AMBA, MAPP and ARPM Announce Leadership Webinar Series

Indianapolis, IN – The American Mold Builders Association, along with the Manufacturers Association for Plastics Processors (MAPP) and the Association for Rubber Products Manufacturers (ARPM), recently launched Leadership Confab 2020, a new leadership webinar series, set to take place May 6 and May 13, 2020.

During this two-part series titled, Capitalizing on the Challenges of Leadership, speaker Phillip Van Hooser will lead participants through strategies that will help them to manage and control issues such as fear, stress and adjusting to change amidst the current COVID-19 pandemic. Part one, May 6, 2020, 2:00pm EDT will focus on how to control fear and thrive on change; and part two, May 13, 2020, 2:00pm EDT, will explore the effects of stress and how to better manage it to achieve greater productivity. No matter where attendees are on their leadership journey, this interactive webinar series will lead attendees on a path to develop a mindset that thrives on change and seizes opportunities others are afraid to explore.

As an award-winning keynote speaker and author on leadership, service and communication, Van Hooser is committed to helping organizations improve performance through cultivating productive relationships, and draws from his own leadership experience in FORTUNE 500 manufacturing, consumer products organizations and commercial banking.
